A new comedy by Karen Zacarías

Directed by Seinfeld's Jason Alexander

Featuring Christian Barillas (Modern Family),

Academy Award nominee Bruce Davison (Longtime Companion, X-Men), Frances Fisher (Titanic), and Jessica Meraz (Major Crimes)

September 5 to 30, 2018 (Press Opening September 9)

Tickets are available at pasadenaplayhouse.org

PASADENA, CA (August 2, 2018) - Pasadena Playhouse, the State Theater of California, is presenting Native Gardens, a new comedy by Karen Zacarías and directed by Seinfeld's Jason Alexander. The production runs September 5 through 30 at Pasadena Playhouse; the press opening is September 9.

The cast of Native Gardens features acclaimed actors of both screen and stage: Christian Barillas (Ronaldo on Modern Family), Academy Award Nominee Bruce Davison (Willard, Longtime Companion, and A Song at Twilight at Pasadena Playhouse), Frances Fisher (Titanic, Unforgiven, Resurrection), and Jessica Meraz (TNT's Major Crimes). The cast of Native Gardens is rounded out by Julian Armaya, Joshua Duron and Bradley Roa II.

In this new comedy, horticultures clash, turning well-intentioned neighbors into feuding enemies. It's the War of the Hoses where cultures collide and mudslinging ensues - literally. Good fences don't always make good neighbors, but they do make for a lot of laughs in this new play.

Native Gardens tells the story of Pablo (Barillas), a rising attorney, and Tania (Meraz), his very pregnant wife who is also a doctoral candidate. They have just purchased a home next to Frank (Davison) and Virginia (Fisher), a well-established D.C. couple with a prize-worthy English garden. They could not feel more welcomed until an impending barbeque for Pablo's colleagues and a delicate disagreement over a long-standing fence line soon spirals into an all-out comedic border dispute.

Tickets start at $25 for Native Gardens and are available at pasadenaplayhouse.org, by phone at 626-356-7529, and at the box office at 39 South El Molino Avenue, Pasadena, CA 91101.

Mexican-American playwright Karen Zacarías said, "Neighborhood stalwarts Virginia and Frank Butley are overjoyed when Tania and Pablo del Valle move into the "fixer-upper" next door. But a disagreement about a fence...and opposing views about gardening push these well-meaning couples into a battle on the politics of...PLANTS. It's a big-hearted comedy with a lot of sharp little teeth. By focusing on the disarming nature of gardening, I hope we can laugh and examine many thorny issues taking root in our culture."

Ben Demers in DC Theatre Scene.com said, "A laugh-a-minute comedy that has arrived at exactly the right time - true breath of fresh comic air. Beyond snappy one-liners and garden hose fights, the play challenges audiences to look beyond petty differences and rediscover our shared decency." Rohan Preston in the Minneapolis Star Tribune said, "Zacarias' smart comedy [is] seeded with so many jokes and insights that it's easily this summer's comedy winner."

Director Jason Alexander said, "In a deceptively simple, deeply appealing play the author has captured the essence of a global conversation we are now having. The subject is 'who belongs to what community and who controls those communities.' It sounds like that would have to be a heavy weighted evening, but in Karen Zacarias' deft hands, she has transformed it into a serio-comic delight. It is impossible to watch without getting involved and wondering what you would do in the same situation. Great characters, great fun and I look forward to sharing it with our theater community."

"It is very exciting for me to introduce the work of Karen Zacarias to Los Angeles. She tackles topical issues with great verve, wit and relevance," said Danny Feldman, Pasadena Playhouse Producing Artistic Director. He continues, "Anyone who has a neighbor can relate - or maybe even sympathize - with someone in this story. We all share stories about good and bad neighbors and what can happen. And when it happens to someone else, its even funnier. In the hands of these comedic legends, I am sure you are in for a good laugh."

The creative team is rounded out by scenic designer David Meyer, costume designer Raquel Barreto, lighting designer Thomas Ontiveros, and sound designer Christian Lee.

BRUCE DAVISON -- Native to Philadelphia, Davison is an award-winning actor who has enjoyed a five decade career that has included everything from Shakespeare to X-Men to Insidious. An art major at Penn State University before turning his attention to theatre, he received his training at NYU's Tisch School of the Arts. He made his professional stage debut in 1966 as Jonathan in Oh Dad, Poor Dad, Mamma's Hung You in the Closet and I'm Feelin' So Sad at the Pennsylvania Festival Theatre. His Broadway debut came at the age of 21 as Troilus in Tiger at the Gates (1968) at the Vivian Beaumont Theatre. The year after, he was seen Off-Broadway in A Home Away from Home and appeared at Lincoln Center in the cast of King Lear.

Success in film came immediately for Davison with the critical and commercial hit Last Summer. Relocating to Hollywood to film The Strawberry Statement, he then achieved cult status playing second fiddle to a rat in Willard (Davison: "...the rat went on and got all the stardom, but I made him what he is today.") Davison went on to success on the West Coast winning the LA Drama Critics Award and the Drama-Logue Award for Streamers and The Normal Heart (with Richard Dreyfuss and Kathy Bates). Other notable theatre included The Skin of Our Teeth, The Little Foxes, A Life in the Theatre, and The Caine Mutiny Court Martial directed by Henry Fonda. He then returned to Broadway as the title role in The Elephant Man and The Glass Menagerie with Jessica Tandy.

Other films from the 70s and 80s include Ulzana's Raid opposite Burt Lancaster, and the chilling, realistic Short Eyes, the musical Mame with Lucille Ball, The Jerusalem File, Grand Jury, Brass Target, Crimes of Passion, and Spies Like Us. CHRISTIAN BARILLAS -- On TV, Christian is perhaps most recognizable as Ronaldo on Modern Family, where he appears opposite Tony winner and Emmy nominee Nathan Lane. In 2013, he was cast as a series regular on CBS's Jim Gaffigan pilot, a career turning point working under comedy star Gaffigan and co-creator Peter Tolan, a multiple Emmy winner. The pilot also starred Oscar winner Mira Sorvino and was shot on location in New York City. Other television highlights include The Handmaid's Tale (Emmy for Best Drama), Grace & Frankie, Chuck Lorre's upcoming The Kominsky Method (with Michael Douglas and Alan Arkin) and a recurring role as a transgender informant on FX's The Bridge, which won a Peabody Award in 2014. Christian also appeared alongside Tony winner Sutton Foster in the pilot episode of Bunheads, a series created by Amy Sherman-Palladino.

His professional career began with Center Theater Group's A Very Old Man With Enormous Wings, a short story by Gabriel García Márquez adapted for the stage by Nilo Cruz, who had just won a Pulitzer Prize. Christian then appeared in several productions in and around Los Angeles including Cornerstone Theater Company's As You Like It (Pasadena Playhouse, directed by Bill Rauch), Sonia Flew (Laguna Playhouse) and A Christmas Carol (South Coast Repertory), where he performed as Young Scrooge for several years. Christian helped develop Octavio Solis' Lydia under the direction of frequent collaborator Juliette Carrillo. He was a member of the original cast at Denver Center and its subsequent production at Yale Repertory Theater. The critically-acclaimed productions garnered multiple awards along the way for its writer, the director and the actors. Christian then spent a couple of years as a member of classical acting companies at Oregon Shakespeare Festival and Utah Shakespeare Festival. In Oregon, he appeared as Bingley in Pride & Prejudice and Sebastian in Twelfth Night (directed by Tony winner Darko Tresnjak). A year later, during Utah's 50th Anniversary Season, he played Romeo in Romeo & Juliet, a career highlight.

For the West Coast Premiere of *The Motherf*cker with the Hat*, Christian played Cousin Julio at South Coast Repertory for which he received an LA Drama Critics Circle nomination. Other theater credits in Los Angeles include Macbeth (with Antaeus Theatre Company), Tennessee Williams' Vieux Carré (playing the Writer), as well as A Midsummer Night's Dream and Othello (Theatricum Botanicum). Internationally, he participated in the Edinburgh Fringe Festival with The Contest.

Along the way, Christian has also appeared in several independent films. Most notably, he worked with Oscar winning writer-director Martin McDonagh in Seven Psychopaths (BAFTA nomination Best British Film). He also appears in Blumhouse Production's Best Night Ever as well as Bosco's Guitar, a memorable short film depicting a real-life story of heroism in central Africa. Christian studied Journalism and Media at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill and earned an MFA in Acting from UCLA's School of Theater, Film and Television, where he was the recipient of the George Burns Fellowship in Comedy. He was born in Guatemala City.

JESSICA MERAZ -- Born and raised in El Paso, TX, Jessica Meraz is the youngest of five children. Jessica left home at 18 to attend USC's School of Theater and pursue her dream of becoming an actress. Favorite TV credits include ABC Family's Chasing Life, Baby Daddy, the You Tube Red series Do You Want to See a Dead Body (opposite Rob Huebel and Terry Crews), and appearing as a storyteller in an episode of Comedy Central's hit series, Drunk History. In 2017, Meraz joined the main cast of TNT's hit drama series, Major Crimes, as Det. Camila Paige. Most recently, Jessica completed a virtual reality scripted pilot called Splash Damage and a feature, Kill Me Twice. Meraz is half Mexican from her mother's side and of Scottish and Irish ancestry on her father's and speaks fluent Spanish. Jessica is thrilled to be returning to her roots in theater and to be working with such iconic talent. In her spare time, Jessica is an avid salsa dancer and enjoys spending time with her beloved family.
